

Stornoway Airport

Stornoway is the principal town on the island of Lewis in the Western Isles. The town is a bustling port and its attractions include the An Lanntair Art Gallery, Lewis Loom Centre (telling the story of the famous Harris Tweed) and the Museum nan Eilean. Be sure to try the local food speciality - the renowned Stornoway black pudding which is exported worldwide.

Stornoway is the ideal location from which to explore the islands of Lewis and Harris which boast dramatic scenery, rich history (including the world-renowned Callanish standing stones), abundant wildlife and white sand beaches.
